Being in CCC makes me feel so lucky and fortunate because I got to be part of a big internship collaborating with USDA and Stanford University. With this opportunity, I learned a lot about how we can express what we learned in the laboratory in the real science world. It was making me realize why I chose Biotechnology as my major. I got to work in a lab where great scientists accomplished a lot in impacting human life on Earth.

I major in Architecture at DVC. I strongly feel the learning environment here has helped me grow a lot. The professors I've met are very nice and always keen to help students to reach their goals. Lots of my friends from here transferred to their dream schools, and mine is Cal Poly San Luis Obispo.

Melanie GERMANY

When I came here to Los Medanos College as an international student, we had an orientation week. There were other students to help you find friends or just to talk with them, so you have somebody in school. And now I'm doing that with the new students that are coming in.
